Guidelines for contributors

DEADLINES WILL BE STRICTLY ADHERED TO, and we cannot accept updated versions of your article after the deadline.

PLEASE ENSURE THAT YOUR NAME IS ON EVERY PAGE OF YOUR ARTICLE

Content

Most importantly, contributions should be relevant to the practice and development of urban and regional planning. Please ensure that writing is clear, concise and remains pertinent to Australian planning. Without precluding national or state level initiatives, the editors will not accept material that is promotional or advertorial. PIA reserves the right to edit, alter or reject any material submitted.

Each article should stand on its own, and should be accessible to non-experts. The purpose of Australian Planner is to inform, educate and stimulate debate on issues in the industry and community, related to a particular topic relevant to, or involved in, planning.

Feature Articles (non-peer reviewed)

Feature articles should be no more than 1,000 to 1,500 words in length. Although it is not necessary for feature articles to contain references, they are encouraged as a strengthening component.

Peer Review

Papers submitted for peer review are subject to 'blind' peer review by 2 independent reviewers. Peer review articles should be 5,000 to 6,000 words in length. Peer review can be a lengthy process, therefore contributors should be aware it may take a minimum of 6 months for their manuscript to be accepted or rejected.

Book Reviews

Reviews of 500-800 words are welcome but please confirm with the Editor prior to submission. A cover image is desirable. Authors of reviewed books may be given the right to reply to critical reviews. Book review guidelines are available from ausplanner@griffith.edu.au

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the Editor are encouraged and thoughtful comments on previous contributions are welcome. Please forward electronically to PIA National Office marketing@planning.org.au providing all contact information for the author/s.
